Members of the Eritrean People's Democratic Party (EPDP) Transitional leadership conducted a public seminar on 17 January 2010 in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. Attended by some members of the Eritrean community in Addis Ababa and members of the EPDP, the seminar was led by Mr. Mohamed Ali Ibrahim and Mr. Mekonen Haile – both members of the executive body of EPDP.

Mr. Mekonen gave introductory remarks, highlighting the importance of the establishment of the new party as part of a new chapter that would boost the hope of our people in the struggle against the ruling dictatorship.

Mr. Mohamed Ali on his part covered a wide range of discussions, which included topics such as the premerger process, the new political resolutions of EPDP, and others.

During the discussion session, participants raised a diverse concerns and questions, which covered: Eritrean Democratic Alliance (EDA), roles and responsibilities of EPDP heads of departments, the plight of Eritrean refugees, and the roadmap of the EPDP, among other things. The seminar presenters, Mr. Mohamed Ali and Mr. Mekonen, gave clarifications and answers on every issue the participants raised.

Before the conclusion of the seminar, participants shared some poems, and expressed their support for the new party, as well as showed their readiness to take part in achieving the programs of the new party.

The presenters of the seminar wrapped up the seminar, calling upon both members of the EPDP and the Eritrean people to strengthen the new party as a strategic tool for our success in the struggle against the PFDJ ruling dictatorship.
